Editorial

Hello Friends!

1998, a new year of hope and resolutions has begun, ushered in with parties, balls and the traditional Jamaican "watch nite" church services.

With the new year also came a new political administration. The People's National Party emerged victorious in the December 18 elections, heralding an unprecedented third term in office. The Government of Jamaica now has the task of continuing the country's developmental path into the next millennium.

As Prime Minister, the Rt. Hon. P.J. Patterson said at his recent Swearing-In Ceremony "In this a new day, let us stir up the gifts with which we have been blessed. Let us pool our energies in the eradication of poverty, the building of a strong economy to meet all our developmental needs, the freeing of the human spirit to accomplish great things and the creation of a quality society."

In this issue of Jamaica News, we have for you, news on the new Cabinet, Here and There Pictorial, a list of public holidays in Jamaica for 1998 and an update on the Reagan Boyz.

May all the resolutions made remain unbroken and a blessed and prosperous New Year to all our brothers and sisters.

Tek care.

CARICOM LINKS

The past calendar year was exciting and busy for CARICOM Member States. Throughout the year, the three main objectives of the organisation — economic co-operation, functional co-operation and co-ordination on foreign policy — were enhanced by regular meetings. The completion of legal documents to facilitate various strategies toward the implementation of the Single Market and Economy took place in 1997.

Under the Chairmanship of the Prime Minister of Jamaica, the Rt. Hon. P.J. Patterson, CARICOM invited the President of the United States, Bill Clinton, to meet with Heads of Government of Member States to discuss issues of trade and development. The Summit held in Barbados on May 10, was the first of its kind and set a positive tone for future CARICOM/US relations.

For 1998, the activities of the Community have already begun in earnest, as Member States sent a peace mission to Guyana, in light of post-election developments there. The mission comprised members of the Bureau of CARICOM, Heads of Government and other prominent West Indians.

Newly appointed Chairman of CARICOM and the Prime Minister of Grenada, Dr. Keith Mitchell, announced recently that the specific objectives of this mission were to "enable CARICOM to formulate an independent position on the situation in Guyana."

"Jamaica News" will keep you abreast of developments in Guyana in later issues. This month we have for you highlights of some of the Community's major achievements for 1997.

- Five new councils were introduced in the organs of the Community — the Community Council of the Ministers; the Council for Trade and Economic Development; the Council for Foreign and Community Relations; the Council for Human and Social Development and the Council for Finance and Planning. These Councils were made possible with the signing of Protocol I in February, 1997.
- The last two surviving signatories of the Treaty of Chaguaramas — President Cheddi Jagan of Guyana and former Prime Minister of Jamaica, Michael Manley — both passed away within hours of each other, on March 6, 1997.
- Sir Shridath Ramphal was appointed Chief Negotiator of the Regional External Negotiating Machinery in April, 1997.
- The Caribbean/US Summit in May resulted in arrangements for annual consultations between foreign ministers of the Caribbean and US Secretary of State. In addition, the US committed itself to promoting measures towards enhancing trade and other areas of critical importance to the region.
- The Republic of Haiti became the Community's fifteenth member in July, when its application for membership was accepted.

RETOOLING OUR ENERGIES FOR THE CREATION OF A QUALITY SOCIETY

Excerpts from the Address by the Rt. Hon. P.J. Patterson Q.C., M.P., at his Swearing-In Ceremony December 30, 1997.

Rt. Hon. P. J. Patterson, P.C., Q.C., M.P.

As I take the Oath of Office for the third consecutive time as Prime Minister of Jamaica, there can hardly be any question but that the Governor-General and myself have made ceremonies of this kind a welcome habit.

This occasion marks the formal acceptance, in accordance with our Constitution, of a mandate from my people and which imposes on me a solemn duty to lead Jamaica forward into the new millennium. I accept this formidable responsibility with a sense of profound humility and a deep consciousness of the sacred obligations which history and the people have entrusted in me.

The Mandate

I regard the mandate as an endorsement of continuity, in the effecting of orderly and progressive change throughout the land.

It is a mandate for substantial growth, but a recognition that this cannot be sustained in the absence of macro-economic stability.

The imperative of the moment requires us as a people, to dig deep within ourselves and find new springs of love, creativity and boldness. We are summoned to make that irreversible thrust to build the quality society that is best fuelled by a united effort.

Democracy

Jamaicans are the proud beneficiaries of a vibrant democratic tradition, spanning over half a century. Our democracy has survived on the discerning sense of our people, who insist that their leaders must always listen and keep in tune.

An End To Strife

There is no doubt in my mind that the healing for which so many Jamaicans and I have prayed, is slowly gaining ground and quietly taking place. The election campaign and the election itself reflected this.

Discipline — A Pre-Requisite for Prosperity

Indiscipline breeds crime and violence. The entire nation must be mobilised to recognise the sanctity of life and work with the security forces to ensure the safety of our citizens and visitors alike.

Our aim is not only to produce scholars and professionals to serve the economy. It is equally important to produce citizens properly socialised to hold positive values and attitudes and thereby contribute to harmony within their communities.

Our Creative Energy

We are blessed with the gift of creativity which is to be found on every street corner.

Let us harness this creative impulse wherever it is to be found. Let us give it room for development and channel into productive enterprise those initiatives for the growth of the nation and the benefit of our people.

We are a people with unmatched capability for creativity and resourcefulness. I am confident that no task is beyond us.

Economic Growth A Priority

On the economic front, growth must be a priority and can no longer be delayed now that there is a sound macro-economic framework on which to launch it.

A great deal of work has already been done to streamline the institutional approaches that reap significant benefits and we are committed to help, through training, assistance with productivity development, marketing and access to credit.

We are committed, through the national industrial policy to double per capita income over the next decade.

Conclusion

A new day has dawned. In this new day, let us stir up all the gifts with which we have been so richly blessed. Let us pool our energies in the eradication of poverty, the building of a strong economy to meet all our developmental needs and most importantly, the freeing of the human spirit to accomplish great things in order to create a quality society.

I close by asking every Jamaican, wherever you may be, to join me in a prayer that God will grant me the wisdom to discover the right, the courage to choose it and the strength to make it endure.

GONE TOO SOON...

Kay Baxter, O.D., Jamaica's Consul General to New York, died on January 16, 1998. She was fifty years old. Members of her family were with her in her final moments. Mrs. Baxter was an exemplary and dedicated Civil Servant, having served in Jamaica's foreign services for over 25 years. Her love for her country was unquestionable.

Over the years she maintained a close link with the Jamaica Information Service through its overseas offices, and treated the JIS staff as a part of her staff at the Consulate.

The Service of Thanksgiving for the life of Mrs. Baxter was held at the University of the West Indies Chapel, Mona, Jamaica on January 24, 1998.

Kay Andrea Annette Baxter, O.D.

(1947 November 07 — 1998 January 16)

The entire staff of the Jamaica Information Service extend our deepest sympathy to the family of the late Kay Baxter, O.D.

"You would know the secret of death...
For what is it to die...
...what is it to cease
breathing
But to free the breath from its Restless tides, that it may rise
And expand and seek God unencumbered?"

TRIBUTES

Hon. P.J. Patterson, Prime Minister

With the untimely passing of Mrs. Kay Baxter, Jamaica has lost an illustrious and dedicated public servant who devoted over 25 years of her life to the service of her country.

She had a distinguished career in the country's diplomatic service where she continued to serve even while she was ailing.

As Jamaica's diplomatic representative in Canada and the United States over the past 17 years, Mrs. Baxter endeared herself to the respective Jamaican communities and was successful in achieving new levels of integration between Jamaicans overseas and their host countries.

Mrs. Baxter served her country well beyond the call of duty and her passing has created a void in our diplomatic services.

On behalf of the Government and people of Jamaica, I convey deepest condolences to her family and many friends.

Hon. Seymour Mullings, Deputy Prime Minister & Minister of Foreign Affairs & Foreign Trade

Just over two months ago, friends and well wishers paid tribute to Kay on the occasion of her 50th birthday. How fortunate it was that the opportunity was used to publicly express to her, appreciation for the unswerving commitment which was the hallmark of her effective service to Jamaica.

Late Consul General Kay Baxter, O.D., opens exhibition by noted Jamaican artist Barrington Watson, held at the Jamaican Consulate Office in Manhattan. Looking on are Prime Minister P.J. Patterson and Jamaica's Permanent Representative to the United Nations, Pat Durrant.

Though Mrs Baxter joined the foreign service in 1981, she had a longer history of service to Jamaica, having previously been employed in other sections of the Public Service. Soon after her transfer to this Ministry, she was assigned to our High Commission in Ottawa, Canada, and subsequently was appointed Deputy High Commissioner. There, she quickly demonstrated a high level of competence in consular relations, which prompted her early appointment as our Consul General in Toronto.

The Order of Distinction was awarded to her in 1988 in recognition of her commitment to excellence in the service of Jamaica. In 1992, she was transferred to New York in a similar capacity, where again, her record was exemplary. Mrs Baxter was proactive in serving the interests of the Jamaican communities in the region to which she was assigned. She was also instrumental in promoting not only public, but also private sector objectives and in organising ventures for the benefit of charitable institutions in Jamaica.

Indeed, a vibrant, productive life has come to an end and while we mourn her passing, the staff of my Ministry and myself extend to the bereaved family and loved ones, our deepest sympathy. May they be comforted by the knowledge that Mrs Baxter has left an indelible mark in the annals of our service and in the hearts of the Jamaican communities in Canada and the United States.

May her soul rest in peace.
